INTRODUCTION

The West Indies Mission has missionaries in fifteen diverse countries with the mission office located in Trinidad. Missionaries are located in:

- ANTIGUA
- BARBADOS
- FRENCH GUIANA
- GRENADA
- GUADELOUPE
- GUYANA
- MARTINIQUE
- ST. KITTS
- ST. MAARTEN
- ST. VINCENT
- SURINAME
- TRINIDAD
- DOMINICA
- NEVIS
- ST. LUCIA

Most of the missionaries are from the United States and Canada.

This plan addresses preparations and evacuation plans in the event of critical situations that jeopardize the well being of missionaries in an area or a country.

Critical situations may include: natural disasters, civil disturbances, personal security threats, or hostility against the Church.

The Mission President is the administrator of this plan assisted by others, as he deems appropriate. He and each of his counselors will have a copy of this plan.

Address and phone number changes are to be maintained by the Mission Office Staff.

PREPAREDNESS

The following on-going actions undertaken in the event of an emergency.

ADMINISTRATIVE

- A list of missionaries, addresses and phone/fax numbers is attached. (Appendix A)

- Included is a list of airlines in each country (Appendix B)

- Included is a list of commercial passenger vessel companies in each country. (Appendix C)

- Included is the list of embassies serving each country. (Appendix D)

- Also included is a phone list of neighboring missions in Brazil and in the Caribbean (Appendix E)

- Attached is a telephone/fax list of the Area Presidency, Missionary Department, and Church Security (Appendix F)

- All missionaries from countries outside the mission must register with their respective embassy or consulate. The registration will bee coordinated by the couple or elder handling visas in the respective country. (See Appendix D)

- All missionaries serving outside of Trinidad must always have an current open-ended ticket returning to Trinidad and all missionaries will possess a current open-ended ticket to the designated country abroad. (Will be for Miami for most of our missionaries). This is to be monitored by the travel secretary for missionaries in Trinidad and by the couple or elder handling visas in the country.

- The West Indies Missionary will maintain good relations with the U.S. embassy in Trinidad to keep current with announcement and literature from the U.S. Department of State Overseas Security Advisory Council.

Missionaries:

Each missionary apartment must have:

- A one-week supply of potable water.
- A one-week supply of food.
- A first aid kit.

The fuel level for automobiles and vans should be kept at least one-half full.

Missionaries must always possess enough money to pay airport departure tax on demand.

Basic security precautions for Missionaries

- Avoid large crowds and locations where disturbances may occur.
- Avoid any political gathering and/or demonstration.
- Elders are NOT to carry cameras or take pictures of disturbances.
- Elders should avoid behavior that would draw undue attention
- Missionaries must never engage in political discussions.
- Missionaries must report unusual circumstances to mission leaders.

Hurricane Safety

The hurricane season for the Caribbean lasts from June through November. August and September are the two most active months. With the increase in technology, these weather disturbandces can be monitored and reported on a timely basis. Therefore, there is no reason for missionaries to be uninformed.

A hurricane begins as a tropical disturbance and becomes a tropical storm when winds are between 39 to 73 miles per hour. While not at hurricane level, tropical storms can be as dangerous as a hurricane and proper care must be exercised.

Hurricane status is reached when winds reach 74 miles per hour. Hurricanes are one of the most dangerous weather phenomena known to man. Every year, hurricanes result in extreme property damage and loss of life due to high winds and heavy rains.

At the start of the hurricane season...

Know the location of the nearest emergency shelter in your area. Each senior missionary couple or Branch President should determine the emergency plan for their area. Each district leader should learn about that plan and communicate it to their district members. District Leaders should also check to see that each apartment is prepared for emergencies.

If you are instructed to stay in your apartment:

Determine whether or not you have hurricane shutters or wood to board up windows. If you do not, let your district leader know.

Make sure you know the location of the main electric breaker and the gas and water valves for your apartment and make sure you have a clear path to easily access them in order to shut them off when a hurricane approaches.

Place your apartment keys in an easily accessible location to make it easier to evacuate quickly in an emergency.

When a hurricane approaches...

A hurricane watch is given when the storm or hurricane is possible within 36 hours. Continue your preparation activities and be prepared to evacuate immediately.

When a hurricane is 24 hours away, a hurricane warning is given. Hurricane landfall is imminent. Stay close to your phone. Every island must have a cell phone. You should secure your windows and doors, bring in loose items from outside, shut off electrical, gas and water hook-ups, and seek safe shelter.

Even before a hurricane makes landfall, storm surges can occur. A storm surge is a wall of about 20 feet of water and is the cause of most hurricane related deaths. Always stay away from the sea when a hurricane or tropical storm approaches.

If you have a car, in preparation for a hurricane make sure you have a full tank of gas. The designated driver must also know the route to your pre-determined safety location, whether it be a shelter or otherwise.

If a hurricane warning is issued and you do not plan to evacuate your home, scrub your bathtub and all containers thoroughly and sponge with bleach. Rinse, let dry completely and fill with water for use if water service is disrupted.

Remember that weather proceeding a hurricane can be very deceiving. Never trust the weather that you see outside your window. Always listen to the news or other authorities to get an accurate reading of what dangers may lie ahead.

If you do evacuate your home during a storm, be prepared to bring your own food, water and personal supplies sufficient for 2 to 4 days. This includes if you plan to go to a shelter.

Beware that the centre of the a hurricane or the eye, can be very calm and deceptive. The storm is not over. Actually, the worst part is yet to come as winds will come from opposite directions. Remain in your safe location until the storm has passed completely and the all clear has been given.

After a hurricane...

Be careful of downed power lines.
Wear sturdy shoes and protective clothing.
Use a flashlight to inspect for damage.
Do not reconnect gas, electricity, or water unless your are positive no damage has been done. Have it checked by a qualified person if any doubt.

Disaster Kit

Store in your apartment:

Water - at least 1 gallon daily per person for 3 days

Food - at least enough for 3 days

Be prepared to take if evacuated:

Important documents in waterproof bag, KEYS

Blankets / Pillows, etc.

Clothing - seasonal / rain gear/ sturdy shoes

First Aid Kit / Medicines / Prescription Drugs / Consecrated Oil

Toiletries , Flashlight / Batteries

Cash (some small bills) and Credit Cards - Banks and ATMs may not be available for extended periods.

COMMUNICATIONS

Normal mission communications are between missionaries, district leaders, zone leaders, assistants and/or Mission President in person, by telephone, or fax.
When a situation occurs which necessitates a rapid communication to missionaries in all countries, calls will be made as shown on Appendix G.

In the event of overloaded voice lines, e-mail can often be used. Most couples have e-mail and some branch presidents have e-mail.

The Trinidad telephone company (TSTT) has instituted international cell phone roaming in most of the English speaking islands of the Caribbean, parts of the United States, the northern portions of South America, and the French speaking areas of the mission. In short, most areas of the mission are now accessible by either land lines or cell phones.
Couples are asked to monitor local news. In countries without couples, the district leaders may be asked to monitor the local news upon the special request of the Mission President.

EVACUATION PLAN

In the event of an emergency the following steps, as outlined in the Mission President Handbook, will be taken:

- Gather information from missionaries, local priesthood leaders, and government or private agencies (such as embassies, consulates, or the Red Cross).
- Inform the Area Presidency, and call or fax the Missionary Department immediately to report:

    1. A description of the emergency (cause, location, magnitude, and other pertinent information).
    2. Casualties among missionaries and members (including names, condition, and location).
    3. The needs of missionaries and members for medical assistance, food, water, clothing, and shelter.
    4. The extent of damage to the mission home and office, missionary apartments, Church buildings, and members' homes and businesses.
    5. Recommendations on how to meet needs, how to maintain communication, and whether to evacuate missionaries.

The countries in the mission are so different, in many respects, and widely separate, geographically, that major crises are not likely to occur in all of the countries at the same time.

The following guidelines apply to gathering locations in an emergency:

- Normally, missionary apartments will be used as a place of refuge. Missionaries may be directed to stay in apartments until trouble subsides.

- When a crisis occurs in a country other than Trinidad, which necessitates evacuation, the gathering point will be the mission home and missionary apartments in Trinidad.
- When it is necessary to move missionaries within a country, the apartments of couples will normally be a gathering place.

- When an evacuation appears to be likely, missionaries will be removed to apartments close to the country's international airport.

To have a common language with the U.S. embassies, we will use the evacuation alert terminology used in the U.S. Department of State Overseas Security Advisory Council booklet, "Emergency Evacuation Guidelines for American Businesses Abroad".

Yellow Alert – Information Collection and Initial Preparation -

This is a period during which routine collection and assessment of information about local and international events takes place. Contact lists and evacuation travel arrangement plans are updated. Daily and continuously, seats are reserved for missionaries on scheduled flights using open tickets.

Blue Alert – Limited Action and Increased Preparation for Evacuation –

The situation has reached a level of tension or instability that could lead to an evacuation. Missionaries would be moved to locations closed to the airport.

Red Alert – Final Preparation and Evacuation –

The situation has deteriorated to the point that evacuation begins. The Mission President will evacuate a country only after approval of the Area Presidency.
The first option of travel will be on airlines using the open-ended tickets. The second option will be on commercial passenger vessels. The third option will be methods provided by embassy officials. The fourth option would be charter flights and/or charter passenger vessels. (See Appendix H for travel services)

Black Alert – Stand Fast –

This alert will be implemented in the event that evacuation is not considered a feasible or prudent course of action due to an unanticipated and sudden deterioration in the country. Missionaries will stay in their apartments.
